DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to applicants' communications dated January 21, 2005. Amendments to the specification and claims 1-13 and 16-20 have been entered. Claims 1-22 are pending in the application and have been examined. Allowability of claims 16-19 indicated in the last office action is withdrawn in view of the amendments. The rejections and response to arguments are stated below.

Specification

2. The amendment filed on January 21, 2005 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132(a) because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132(a) states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material, which is not supported by the original disclosure, is as follows: "unit" instead of the term "means".

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

4. Claims 1-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter, which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

Art Unit: 3624

Claims 1-22 include the limitations “input unit”, “calculating unit”, “output unit”, “acquiring unit” and so on. However, the specification does not provide written disclosure to support these claimed limitations.

5. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.

6. Claims 10, 14 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 10 is indefinite because the phrase “may suffer suffers” is unclear. In claims 14 and 15, the terms “Norm[]” and “Yk” are not defined. Appropriate clarification/correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claims 1-13, 21 and 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kealhofer (US Patent 6,078,903) in view of Pitsianis et al (US Pub. No. 2003/0088601 A1) as discussed in the last office action mailed on October 20, 2004.

Response to Arguments

9. With reference to Applicant’s arguments about the independent claims that Kealhofer does not teach the claimed characteristic function, the examiner respectfully disagrees. The characteristic function (as claimed) is calculated on the basis of each said loan amount and each said bankruptcy probability. Kealhofer (Column 4 lines 24-52) discloses a function based on the loan amount and probability of default. Hence Kealhofer teaches this feature. This feature is repeated for all the loans in the financial portfolio.

As acknowledged in the last office action, Kealhofer does not teach the step of calculating a probability distribution by Fourier transform inversion of said characteristic function calculated by said characteristic function calculating unit. However Pitsianis teaches the step of calculating Fourier transform inversion for a given characteristic function (See Pitsianis abstract and other parts of the disclosure). It is old and well known in the art that a characteristic function of a random variable is essentially the Fourier Transform of the probability density function. Hence taking the inversion of the Fourier Transform yields the probability distribution. Both Kealhofer and Pitsianis are concerned with making the process of computation fast and easy for the user. Hence it would have been obvious to combine the teachings of Pitsianis to the disclosure of Kealhofer.

Applicants' other arguments have been considered but are not persuasive. For the reasons discussed above the rejections made in the last office action are maintained.

Conclusion

10. Applicants' amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
